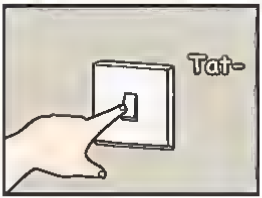
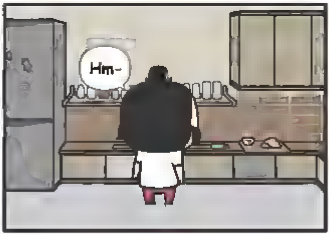
Household Chores: Part 2

Anyway I think we have a pretty healthy relationship in sharing house work

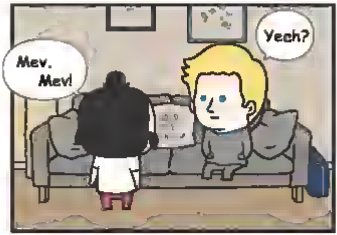
Then one day, I left the dirty dishes and went out.

I came back home
quite late in the evening



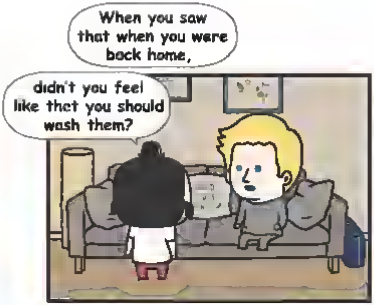


Then I saw that the dirty dishes were still there.

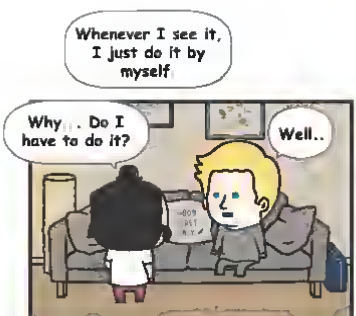


I felt anger.

Why didn't you wash the dishes in the kitchen?



When you saw that when you were back home,
didn't you feel like that you should wash them?

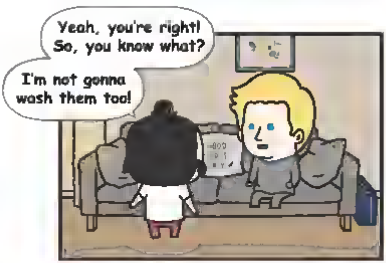


Mev must have been annoyed by my nagging

He started to talk like this.

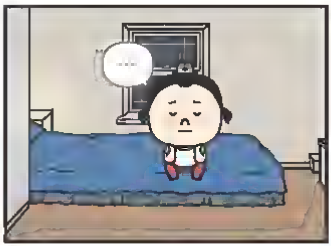
Yeah, it's natural that whoever gets annoyed by mess is going to tidy things up

What Mev told me made sense, but that didn't make me feel better at all. So, I went back to Mev and told him.



Yeah, you're right!
So, you know what?
I'm not gonna wash them too!

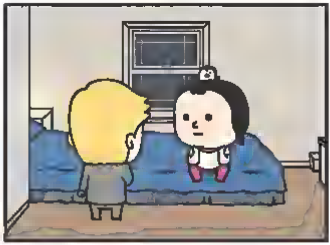
Ah, and one more thing



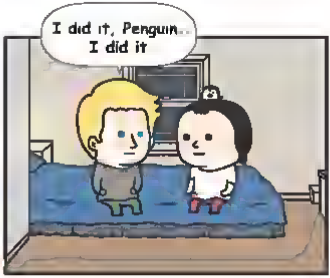
After I spoke to him very sharply.

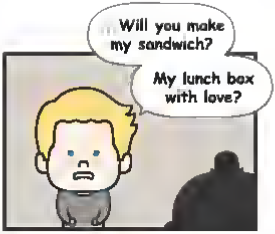
A bit later on

I heard that
Mev was washing the dishes.

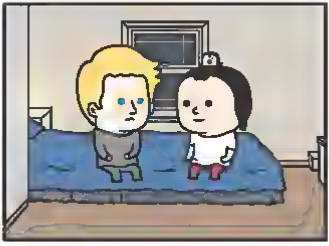


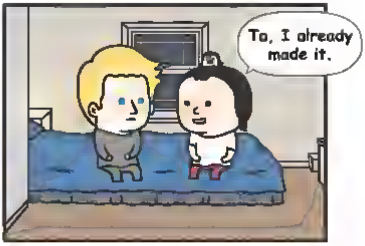
When he finished, he came to me.

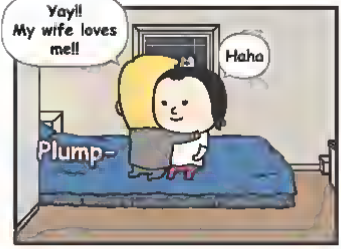




Will you make my sandwich?
My lunch box with love?







We all sometimes live like clanking dishes in a bowl.

He works harder since then.
